Guidance notes for service standards

Our published service standards are based on processing times where no additional regulatory checks are required.

In some circumstances, we are required to carry out enhanced due diligence to meet our anti-money laundering and financial crime obligations. Where this applies, we may be unable to process a transaction within the stated service standard, and timescales may be extended until all necessary checks have been completed.

We will continue to progress transactions as efficiently as possible and will complete processing once our regulatory requirements have been satisfied.
